

May is National Hospice month

To the editor:

In recognition of National Nurse's Month in May, Greater Medford VNA & Additional Care would like to thank all nurses for their dedication and caring throughout the year. When asking a nurse why they chose this profession, you may hear many answers: to take care and nurture the sick, to help them get well, and to make a difference. Many help save lives, or bring new lives into the world. Others want a role where they feel they are giving back to the community and can see a direct impact of their efforts on others. GMVNA nurses are invited into patient's homes or wherever they call home, to care for them at the most vulnerable times...when they are recovering from an illness or injury. Nursing is one of the most honorable professions and for whatever reason you chose this profession...we thank you.
